CAPTAIN OBSTINATE.

My story commences (said an old soldier of the "grand army," who had left one of his arms on the field of battle,) on the 5th of November, 1812, a short time after the battle of Wiazma. We beat a retreat, not before the Russians, for they were at a respectable distance from our camp, but before the sharp and bitter cold of their detestable county—a cold more terrible to us than the Russians, Austrians and Bavarians all put together.

During the preceding days our officers had told us that we were approaching Smolensko, where we should get food, fire, brandy and shoes; but in the meantime we were perishing in the glaciers and continually harassed by the Cossacks. We had marched six hours without stopping to take breath, for we knew that repose was certain death. An icy wind blew the drifting snow in our faces, and from time to time we stumbled over the frozen corpse of a comrade. We neither spoke nor sang; even complaints were no longer heard and that was a bad sign. I marched by the side of my captain—short, strongly built, rough and severe, but brave and true as the blade of his sword; we called him "Captain Obstinate," for when he once said a thing, it was fixed; he never changed his opinions. He had been wounded at Wiazma, and his usual crimson face was then ghastly pale, while a ragged white handkerchief, all stained with blood, was bound round his head, and added to the palor of his countenance. All at once I saw him stagger on his legs like a drunken man, then fall like a block to the ground.

"Good heavens! captain," I said, bending over him, "you cannot remain here."

"You see that I can since I do it." replied he, showing his legs.

"Captain," said I. "you must not give way;" and lifting him in my arms, I tried to put him on his feet. He leaned on me and attempted to walk, but in vain; he fell again dragging me with him.

"John," said he "all is over. Leave me here, and rejoin your company as quickly as possible. One word before you go! At Veroppe, near Grenoble, lives a good woman, eighty-two years of age, my—my mother. Go and see her, embrace her for me, and tell her that—that—tell her what you will, but give her this purse and my cross. It is all I have! now go!"

"Is that all, captain?"

"That is all, God bless you! Make haste Adieu!"

My friends, I do not know how it was, but I felt two tears roll down my cheeks.

"No, captain," I cried, "I will not leave you; either you come with me, or I will remain with you."

"I forbid you to remain."

"You may put me under arrest, then, if you like, but at present you must let me do as I please."

"You are an insolent fellow."

"Very good, captain, but you must come with me."

He bit his lips with rage, but said no more. I lifted him and carried him upon my shoulder like a sack. You can easily imagine that with such a burden, I could not keep pace with my comrades. In fact, I soon lost sight of their columns, and could see nothing around me but the white and silent plain. I still walked on, when presently appeared a troop of Cossacks galloping towards me, with furious gesticulations and wild cries.

The captain was by this time completely insensible; and I resolved, whatever it might cost me, not to abandon him. I laid down on the ground, and covered him with snow. Then I crept beneath a heap of dead bodies; leaving, however my eyes at liberty. Presently the Cossacks came up, and began to strike with their lances right and left, while their horses trampled us under their feet. One of these heavy beasts set his foot upon my arm and crushed it. My friends, I did not speak, I did not stir; I bit my mouth lo stifle the cry of torture which nearly escaped from me, and in a few minutes the Cossacks had dispersed.

When the last of them had disappeared I quitted my refuge, and proceeded to disinter the captain. To my joy he gave some signs of life. I contrived to carry him with my one arm toward a rock which offered a sort of shelter, and then I laid myself by his side, wrapping my cloak round us both.

The night closed in, and the snow continued to fall. The rear guard had long since disappeared, and the only sound that broke the stillness of the night was the whistle of the bullet or the howling of the wolves feasting on the corpses that lie stretched around. Heaven knows what thoughts passed through my soul during that dreadful night, which I felt sure, would be my last upon earth. But I remembered the prayer which my mother had taught me long before, when I was a child at her knees; and bending low, I repeared it with fervor.

That did me good, and I felt astonishingly calmed when I returned to my place by the captain. Yet the time passed, and I had fallen into a state of half stupor, when I saw a group of French officers approach. Before I had time to speak to them, their chief, a little man dressed in a furred pelisse, stepped toward me, and said—

"what are you doing there? Why are you away from your regiment?"

"For two good reasons," said I, pointing first to the captain, and then to my bleeding arm.

"The man says true, sir," observed one of those who followed him; I saw him marching in the rear of his regiment, and carrying this officer on his back."

The emperor—for, my friends, it was he—gave me one of those glances that only he, or the eagle of the Alps, could give, and said, "It is well. You have done very well." Then opening his pelisse, he took the cross which decorated his green coat, and gave it to me. At that instant I was no longer hungry, no longer cold; I felt no more pain from my arm than if that awkward beast had never touched it.

"Davoust," added the emperor, addressing the officer who had spoken to him, "see this man and his captain placed in one of the baggage wagons. Adieu!" And making me a motion of the hand, he rode away.

Here the veteran ceased and resumed his pipe.

"But tell us what became of Captain Obstinate," cried many impatient voices.

"The captain recovered, and is now a general on the retired list. But the best of the joke was that as soon as he got well, he put me under arrest for fifteen days, as punishment for my infraction of discipline. This circumstance came to the ears of Napoleon, and after laughing, he not only set me free, but promoted me to the rank of sergeant. As to the decoration, my children, here is the ribbon at my button-hole, but the cross I wear next to my heart.

And opening his vest, he showed the precious relic, suspended from his neck in a little satin bag.

THE PLOW AND THE BOND!

He who by the plow would thrive,
Himself must either hold or drive.

The other day we saw a plow in the furrow, its bright and visible now and then as the steady pulling team drew it around and around on its great work. We stood by the roadside and thus ran our thoughts. Who will agree with them?

Now look at that plow. In the hands of the farmer's son, drawn by willing cattle, it is doing a great work. It cost but a few dollars. It is worth untold millions to the nation. It prepares the ground for the seed which will bring forth crops which will benefit all. The mold board, the plow-share, the beam, handles and cross-rung, all are the work of a man, his work, still to benefit others.

The man who owns this land pays taxes thereon. The man who owns the plow, the cattle, pays taxes on them. He pays taxes on all he has, on all he raises, on all he has invested. And he must do so year after year. For what?

We will tell you.

School taxes, that his children may be educated.

Road taxes, that the roads may be kept in order.

Town taxes, that the taxes of the district may be collected and rightly applied.

County taxes, that the courts, sheriffs, jurors, and county officers may be supported.

State taxes, for like purposes.

The man, the cattle, the plow pays the taxes. That plow is of use. If all the plows in the land should be exempt from work for five years!—Would not the man and the cattle rejoice?

But hold on—how would the man, his family, his cattle live? And how would the workmen everywhere live?

And how the weeds would grow over their fields.

And who would, who could pay the taxes when the plow rested in rust and idleness hidden away in some shed or cellar?

God-speed you, plough and plowman. And man care for you, plow and plowman. And protect you, as you make the wild into a garden, give employment and reward therefor, for the benefit of the people and country.

Whoa!

Now, then—get up!

And the cattle pull, the plowman manages, lifts, twists, and settles down to the handles. The eyes of the beast and man protrude from their sockets—the muscles of man and beast swell and stretch—the plow point is fast in something, and there is a bad break in the furrow.

What is the cause? A root—a stump—a stone—a rock?

No!

Only an iron box—a fire proof safe. Handle it with care—the Government stamp is thereon, and you must not break, mar, cancel or repudiate it.

The iron box is full of bonds,

All nicely printed and folded.

These bonds are hidden away to escape taxation. One of them earns more than ten plows, but it is not taxed.

The plow earns wheat.
The bond earns gold.
The plow pays taxes.
The bond does not.
The plow earns gold to drop into the iron box, in the shape of taxes.

And the man who bought the plow paid all it was worth, and each year lessens its value.

The man bought the bond paid half its worth, and it is increasing in value each year.

Who owns the bond?

The man who just rode by in his carriage,

Who owns the plow?

The man who is working with it to support his family—who works while the other rides.

The plow earns.
The bond earns.
The plow is taxed.
The bond is not.
The plow fears the heat, the fly, the rust—the wet may keep back the reward.

The bond fears nothing, for if the plow does not earn the interest the bond calls for, the cattle are sold and dropped into the iron box.

The farmer is taxed on all he has—the iron box full of bonds pay no taxes.

The farmer supports the man who owns the bonds, which are but notes he must pay.

And the plows are everywhere.

The bonds are everywhere.

How came the plows in the fields? Men placed them there to do a great work with.

How came the bonds there?

When the people were fighting and the plow idle in the furrow, those who dare not fight dug holes and hid their boxes. The Government filled them with bonds, and placed stamps of exemption thereon.

The bondholder planted bonds, and his crop of gold is certain.

The farmer planted sons on battle fields—he now works to enrich the ones who own the Government, the bonds, the plow, the land, the farmer and the muscle of America every where.

The plow and the bond.

We like the one and the man who holds it.

We hate the other as we hate any one or any government that robs labor of its reward.—N. Y. Democrat.

MARK TWAIN IN HAYTI.

* * * * * * *

Arrived at my hotel, I asked the small colored boy what I owed him for carrying my valise.

"Nine hun'd dollars, sah."

I fainted.

When I came to, a number of people were about me, applying restoratives, and doing what else they could to help me. The soulless, colored boy was standing there, cold and serene.

I said:

"How much did you say, boy?"

"Nine hund'd dollars, sah, reg-lar price, sah."

I appealed to the bystanders for protection. An old gentleman of noble countenance and commanding presence said the boy was right—he was charging only the usual rate. I looked at the other faces. They all mutely endorsed the venerable conspirator's statement.

I sadly handed the boy a thousand dollar bill. He walked off.

I was stupefied with amazement.—"Gentlemen," I said, "what does this mean? Theae's a hundred dollars change coming to me."

"True," the old party said "but it is not the custom to regard a trifle like that."

Stunned and dizzy, I hurried to my room and threw myself on the bed, almost satisfied that I had lost my reason. I applied tests. I repeated the multiplication table without a mistake. It was plain my comprehension of numbers was unimpaired. I repeated "The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck" without a blunder. It was plain my memory was sound. I read one of Mrs. Browning's poems, and clearly understood some of it. It was plain that my intellectual faculties were in a condition of even unusual vigor.—Then, what in the world was the matter? Had I not suddenly developed a monomania? a craziness about money only?

I wandered round the town for three hours, as crazy as a loon—perfectly desperate. It was plain enough to me now that I had gone crazy on the subject of money. How I had ever come to do such a thing is a mystery, for I had always been a sort of spendthrift, a man who had never worshipped gold or greenbacks to any alarming extent. But I was reluctant to accept the situation, anyhow, and so I said to myself that by this time Charley must have bought all the things we wanted, and got the bills to the hotel. I would go and pay them. I would see if this dismal hallucination was in force. When I arrived, I told the landlord to make out his bill and add the tradesmen's bill to it, and give it to me as quickly as possible. I sat down to wait—a smothering volcano of anxiety and impatience—for if my mind was not straight by this time, I dreaded that my madness might increase under my distress and drive me to commit some fearful crime. I shuddered presently when I thought I felt a desire creeping through me to spring on a decrepit old man near me and throttle him. I moved away and turned my back, and then I covertly threw my pocket knife out of the window. Now the bill came. I read thus—I translate:

Mark Twain to Kingston House Dr.

To room rent (two persons)	$3,000
To removing baggage to room	900
Total	$4,500
To tradesmen's bills as follows:
5 Bunches Bananas	$2,700
12 Pine Apples	2,000
10 Dozen Oranges	900
5 Boxes Cigars	92,000
2 Baskets Claret	22,000
2 Baskets Champagne	88,000
7 Dozen Lemons	800
1 Pair Boots	21,000
1 Dozen Socks	18,500
2 Dozen Handkerchiefs	43,000
Total	$265,400

Received payment.

Two hundred and ninety-five thousand and four hundred dollars. I read this bill over deliberately six or seven times, and never said a word. Then I said I would step out and get a breath of fresh air.

* * * * * * *

I got it—the breath of fresh air. I walked gently around the corner, whistling unconcernedly. And then glanced back, and seeing nobody watching me, sauntered toward the American packet ship at the rate of about ten or eleven miles an hour.—I picked up Charley on the way. He hid between decks a couple of hours, till the vessel was out of the sight of land, and the cigars and things—the landlord had them. I trust he has them yet. We have parted to meet no more. I have seen enough of Hayti. I never did take much interest in Hayti, anyhow.

MARK TWAIN.

P. S.—I understand it all now. I have been talking with the Captain. It's very simple when one comprehends it. The fact is, the war has been raging so long that Haytien credit is about dead, and the treasury very dry. Therefore one dollar in gold will buy eighteen hundred to two thousand dollars worth of Haytien greenbacks, according to the tenor of the current war news. I wish I had my valise back.—Buffalo Express.

HOW THEY COURT DOWN EAST.

Sally, the housemaid, paring apples in the corner. Enter Obadiah, who seats himself in the corner opposite Sally, without saying a word for fifteen minutes, but finally scratching his head, breaks the silence with—

Obadiah—"There's a considerable imperceptible alterin' in the weather since last week."

Sally—"Taint so injudicious and so dubitable cold as it was; thernomicon has lowered up to one hundred degrees higher than zenith.

Obadiah—"I think it's likely, for the birds of that specis fly a great deal higher in warmer days than cold ones."

Both parties assume a grave and improving look, and a long pause ensues. Finally, Obadiah gives his pate another harrowing scratch and again breaks the silence with—

Obadiah—"Well, Sally, we chaps are going to raise a sleigh ride; it's such inimicle good sleddin' to-morrow. I suppose they'll have insatiate good times on it. I should be supenial happy if you would disgrace me with your company. I should take it as a deropidary honor; besides we're carculatin' to treat the gals well with rasins and black strap."

Sally—"I should be supernatural glad to disgrace you, but our folks suspect company. I can't go."

Obadiah sits a while, and at length starts up as though a new idea had come upon him.

Obadiah—"Well, now, I know what I'll do. I'll go home and thrash out those beans what have been lying down in the barn such a darned long while."

Exit Obadiah.

ARTEMUS WARD'S SPIRITOMETER.

Dolly Davenport, whose lives are as numerous as his friends, tells a good joke on himself, which occurred in England during the time that the late Chas. F. Browne (Artemus Ward), was delivering his facetious lectures in London:

Upon arriving in the English capital, Dolly's first care was to pay a visit to his friend Artemus, and was met at the door by a buxum lass, who asked him in her bruadest cockney accent for his card. Dolly, having forgotten his name at home, substituted a sixpense, which, with magical effect, showed him to the door of Artemus' room. Artemus was engaged in shaving, and turning around to see who the intruder was he dropped razor, paper and everything else. His face assumed an aspect of terror, and he commenced crouching around the room, hugging the wall, until he reached a huge trunk in the corner, and, without saying a word to Dolly, he pulled out a bottle of the "cratur" which he, with the same expression of fright, placed on the center of the table, and retreated to his corner. Dolly walked up to the table, and raising the stuff to his lips, took a hearty swig. A shriek of joy came from Artemus, who, with open arms, rushed toward Dolly, and embracing him, exclaimed: "I heard you were dead, but now I know it's a lie." The test had worked wonderfully.

CRAWLED UP.—Once upon a time a gentleman found in his henroost a simple-minded soul of the vicinity, who lived without visible means of support.

"What are you doing here, you rascal? Stealing my chickens?"

"No, sir" was the response; "I ain't thought of doing nothing of the sort."

It unfortunately happened that the simple minded individual wore a high straw hat, of the deminsions of a beehive, and the crown thereof was dilapidated to a serious extent. Just as he had put in his denial, the head of a half grown pullet was seen to protrude from the aperature.

"See there," said the gentleman; "how did the chicken get in your hat!"

"Well!" exclaimed the simple minded individual, with an air of honest surprise and embarrassment, "that is the strangest thing that ever happened to me. I suppose the darned critter must have crawled up my trowers leg!"

EXTREME DELICACY.—"Is there any thing the matter?"

"There is, sir," was the host's savage reply.

"Have I given any offence?"

"You have, sir."

"Really, I am ignorant of it."

"Well sir let me tell you such language don't suit here."

"My dear, sir, what language? We were only talking of soup!"

"Well, sir, but you said ox-tail!"

"Well, suppose I did?"

"Why, sir, it's that very word that sent all the ladies blushing out of the room—it's highly unbecoming language—very improper indeed!"

"But my dear sir, what would you have me say? I called the soup by its proper name, didn't I?"

"No, sir, you did not; and whenever you have occasion to speak of that particular soup again, never say Ox tail soup! Say Fly-disperser soup! that's the proper word, sir."

HUMOROUS.

What kind of sweetmeats did they have in the ark? Preserved pairs.

'I despise mankind,' said an arrogant fellow to a clergyman. 'I see you have studied your own nature deeply,' was the quiet reply.

"Lenny, you're a pig," said a father to his little five-year old boy. "Now, do you know what a pig is, Lenny?" "Yes, sir; a pig is a hog's little boy."

A lady cought her husband breaking her hoops. Two hours afterwards, the unfortunate man was seen at a drug store purchasing hair restorative.

"Mother, I'm afraid a fever would go hard with me." "Why, my son?" "Cause, you see, mother, I'm so small that there wouldn't be room for it to turn."

"My wife," said a wag the other day, "came near calling me honey, last night."

"Indeed! how was that?"

"Why, she called me old beeswax."

"Oh, my prophetic soul! my uncle!" Beecher is prophesying a new rebellion and a division of the Union into four pieces. We hope neither Henry Ward nor Ma'am Stowe will come on our piece.

BAKED APPLE DUMPLINGS.—Select smooth, even-sized apples; peel, core them, and fill the cavities with sugar and a little cinnamon. Divide your paste into as many parts as you have apples. Roll each one out square, and inclose the apple in it, slightly wetting the edge to make it stick. Bake in a shallow pan, and eat with a dry sauce made of butter and sugar beaten together.

Another instance of Massachusetts morality appears in a case in Court, in which two men swapped wives, and, as no divorces had been procured the men were each married to two wives; the women to two husbands.

A lady out with her little boy and girl, bought the boy a rubber baloon, which escaped him and flew up in the air. The girl seeing tears in his eyes, said. "Never mind it, Neddy; when you die and go to heaven you'll dit it."

"Kitty, where's the frying pan?" 'Johny's got it carrying dirt and oyster shells up the alley, with the cat for a horse." "The dear little fellow! what a genius he'll yet make; but go and get it. We're going to have company, and must fry some fish for supper."

People who are resolved always to please, at all events, frequently overshoot the mark. A lady of this sort, going to a friend's house, one morning, ran to the cradle, as soon as she came in, to see the fine 'boy.' Unfortunately the cat was occupying the baby's place, but before she could discover her mistake, she exclaimed, with uplifted hands, "Oh, what a sweet child, the very picture of its father."

A few days ago a gentleman whose proboscis had been lost, was invited out to tea. "My dear," said the good lady of the house to her little daughter, "I want you to be very particular, and to make no remarks about Mr. Jenkins' nose." Gathered around the table everything was going on well; the child peeped about, looked rather puzzeld, and at last startled the table: "Ma, why did you tell me to say nothing about Mr. Jenkins' nose; he hasen't got any!"

A young lawyer was examining a bankrupt as to how he had spent his money. There were about two thousand dollars unaccounted for, when the attorney put on a severe, scrutinizing face, and exclaimed with much self-complacency, "Now, sir, I want you to tell this court and jury how you used those two thousand dollars?" The bankrupt put on a serio-comic face, winked at the audience and exclaimed, "The lawyers got that!"—The judge and audience were convulsed with laughter, and the counselor was glad to let the bankrupt go.

INTERESTING TO HUSBANDS AND WIDOWS.—An interesting case has just been decided by the Supreme Court of Ohio. A husband died and willed all his property to his wife so long as she remained a widow. In case of her contracting a marriage, the property was to revert to the children. She did marry, and brought suit to recover her dowry. The Court decided that her acceptance of the conditions imposed by the will was a bar to any further claims. She therefore cannot live with her second husband and draw her support from the first. Widows will take a note, and, contest such wills in season if they are not quite sure that their love is undying, and a life of widow-hood is there choice.

STANDING BY A FRIEND.—In the flush times of Vicksburg, when the phrase "hard case" meant something more than it does now, Harvey Jenkins was admittedly one of the hardest. By some strange accident Harvey found himself at church one evening. The sermon being over, the preacher requested all who were friendly to religion to rise and hold up their hands. The whole audience apparently were on their feet. After they were seated the minister continued:

"Now if there is a single one here who desires to see Satin and his kingdom prosper, he will rise and hold up his right hand."

Harvey, with some difficulty, got to an erect position, and said:

"Had the vote been less unanimous, I should have retained my seat; but I make it a point of honor never to abandon a friend under adverse circumstances."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

A curious hodge-podge, which common courtesy compels the country to call a President's message was promulgated the other day. Unfortunate in all his preceding official, political, and literary performances, since the day of his inauguration, it was supposed and hoped that Grant would, with the assistance of his numerous Secretaries, be able to meet public exigency, and satisfy popular longing with an able and statesmanlike presentation of the questions which must come before this administration for decision. But no reader can rise from a perusal of the message without either a feeling of disappointment or disgust. Instead of the brevity and terseness which were expected, the document is elaborate without being graceful in style or phraseology, and expansive in ideas and statements without any special merit of detail or attractiveness of construction.

Speaking of the message as we would of the human frame, we would say that its head was deficient in all the strong and conspicuous characteristics which should distinguish so important a function; lacking in the high, statesmanlike and comprehensive tone which should pervade so important a state paper; and unattended by any of the peculiar features whose promulgation forces even unwilling admiration and respect. The body of the message would, from general characteristics, appear to make several who are not its reputed author responsible for its creation. No doubt Boutwell patched up the financial portion of it. Sumner probably wrote the paragraphon the 'Alabama question' and foreign affairs. The Cuban mummery is clearly the work of Fish, and Wilson or Butler may have dictated the reconstruction portion of it. The remainder of it bears strong resemblance to Badeau's style. The weak head of the document surmounts a weaker and more unhealthy body, which like that of a dwarf, is contracted to deformity that shrivels it into unshapely drivel and commonplaces.

There is nothing in the message that bespeaks the frankness or directness of the soldier, nor the cogent reasoning and logical precision of the statesman. Never in the history of the country has there been presented to a President of this nation a more favorable opportunity to unite every faction of his own party, and at least win the respect and confidence of the opposition, by the display of that broad and earnest statesmanship, that comprehensive grasp of intellect and far-seeing penetration of mind that probes deeper than mere words and soars higher than mere statistics. But Grant has clearly proved himself unequal to the emergency. He approaches the discussion of questions upon the solution which even the nation's fate may be involved, with the timidity, vacillation, and restraint which a man feels who has no fixed opinions of his own, and is desirous of conciliating and harmonizing the broken factions of a rapidly dissolving party. There is revealed throughout the Message a consciousness that Grant is the Man and Congress the Master. It is this subservient tone, this official survility that disgusts everybody who thought Grant had some individuality.

The most correct estimate of the value and strength of the document may best be formed by comparing it with the messages of any of the later Presidents. We miss the profound and logical reasoning of Van Buren, the clear and statesmanlike perspicuity of Pierce, the sound argument and solidity of expression of Buchanan, the ringing eloquence and stately dignity of Johnson, and even the original and suggestive public utterances of Lincoln. What was wisely conspicuous, and to the nation of the profoundest importance, in the state papers of the later Presidents finds no exponant in Grant—an earnest, sound, discriminating and dignified public policy.—There is no fixed policy defined in his message—no settled plan of administration. He proves by every statement, by every sentence, that he is the mere plaything of Congress, subject to all its caprices, its willing and subservient tool.

But after all, it may have been foolish to expect more from a man who, with tanning leather in Galena and peddling wood on the Mississippi, passed forty-five years of his existence in blissful ignorance of all questions pertaining to public affairs. The world is full of men who are out of their places, that is, the places which their abilities peculiarly qualify them to fill; but the country is to be congratulated on the fact that only one at a time of this class can be President.

It would have been better for the country and more creditable to Grant, in so far as the message is a mere literary performance if he had allowed himself to be "interviewed" by some smart, enterprising press reporter, who, by a series of apt queries concerning public matters, would have extracted from the President precisely such information as the people desired. Such material, presented in the piquant style and with the dilicious pungency which characterize most press reports now-a-days, would have placed everybody in good humor with the Administration, and saved Grant the unpleasant reflection that he had made a most egregious blunder in presenting to the country an annual message that had nothing to recommend it, not even the poor merit of being gracefully and smoothly written.

A WEDDING AT WORMLEY'S.

The marriage of M. Paul Geraud, brother-in-law of the Portugese minister, and Miss Marie B. Wormley, the daughter of the well-known negro caterer in Washington, says the Patriot, is brilliantly described in the newspapers of the party. Shakespeare tells the story of Desdemona's love for Othello. Brabantio, the father of the fair maiden, absurdly declared that the sooty Moor had used drugs and conjurations to enchant his daughter.—But Othello explained how he had won the charming girl of that period. He had frequent invitations to the paternal abode, and told amazing stories of his imprisonment in the Andersonvilles of his time, of his escapes, of his Fort Fisher fights and all that sort of thing, which the girl was foolish enough to believe. She was more foolish to marry him. The tragic ending of that affair has prevented the example of Desdemona from finding many imitations on the stage of real life until the present time.

This new love affair which has filled the ranks of the miscegenators with encouragement and delight, has some slight variations from the great dramatic event to which we have referred. One radical newspaper in recording the marriage says that the father is a negro and the daughter an octaroon, but that is slightly mixed. In this case it was not drugs and magic which won the youth. Oysters and lobster sauce did the business. Wormley, be it remembered, is the caterer who judiciously mingles dishes and diplomacy. Wormley was on confidential terms with Mr. Seward during the time when that statesman presided over our foreign affairs, and at present is said to have exceedingly intimate relations with Fish. When a Japanese, Chinese or Portugeese Embassy, or other outlandish delegation, is sent to this country, it is immediately on its arrival in Washington, put in charge of Wormley. No audience could be had at the White House until the cuisine of the great Wormley had been enjoyed. Here, under the inspiration of Wormley's wines, the embassadors prepared for their diplomatic labors. It was here that Burlingame lodged his Chinese delegation, and here the Portuguese youth, the gentle Geraud, met the lovely Marie. She it was who bore to him daily on a tray the oysters of Wormley, more delicious far than any he had ever tasted in his own Oporto, and as he swallowed them down, love rose triumphant in his soul. When, at times, the memory of the lonesome youth reverted to a vale in his native land where danced the lovely maidens by moonlight beneath the cork tree, it was Marie who brought him to by popping a cork of the Veuve Cliquot. If there sometimes mingled with his morning dreams a midnight serenade in Lisbon and a damsel at the half-opened jalousies, Marie with her soft announcement of such fresh shad and mutton chops as Lisbon never knew, would wake him to a happy realization of the present. With such gastronomic bliss at Wormley's could love for the daughter of the host fail to enter? The radicals would fain record this event as a great triumph of their teachings. But it may be put down as a striking instance of the control which the stomach has over the human affections.

NOT TRUE.—We have hitherto refrained from noticing the unjust and unmanly attacks of the editor of the Genius of Liberty upon Hon. B. F. Meyers, of the GAZETTE and Patriot. And all we have to say now is, that when the editor of the Genius says that Mr. Meyers was "lukewarm in the senatorial contest between Findlay and Scull," in this district, he either affirms whereof he knows not, or he willfully and maliciously utters what he knows to be a falsehood. —Somerset Democrat.

THE action of the Wyoming Territorial Legislature in relation to accidents to employees on railroads is specially commended to the attention of the Legislature of Pennsylvania. Last winter a bill was passed at Harrisburg, and signed by Governor Geary, which debarred employees from the right of obtaining more than three thousand dollars for any accident that might befall them on a railroad. The injustice of such a law does not need pointing out. The best commentary on it is the substance of the following paragraph:

"The Wyoming Legislature has enacted that 'any person or employee on any railroad in this Territory who may be injured or killed while in the performance of their duties or otherwise shall have the same right of action for damage against said company as if such person were not an employee.'"

IS THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY DEAD?

Radical journals and stumpers for some years have frequently announced the death of the Democratic party.—Let the reader calmly take a survey of the field and he will ascertain the facts in the case. Something that Radicals seldom deal in.

The States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, poll in round numbers, say, the following votes:

New York	730,000
Pennsylvania	650,000
Ohio	520,000
Indiana	330,000
Total	2,530,000

This is nearly one half of the total vote of the United States, and it is more than two-fifths. Now, let us see how it is divided between the two parties:

	Dem. maj.	Rep. maj.
New York	33,000
Pennsylvania		5,000
Ohio		7,500
Indiana (in 1868)		1,000
Total	33,000	13,500
Democratic majority	19,500

It thus appears, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, in these great Commonwealths, which have more than one-third of the population of the Union, that there are 20,000 more Democrats than Republicans. This is allowing the majority they got in Indiana last year, which they cannot get again.—Had the State voted this fall it would have given us 10,000 majority. This does not look as if the Democracy were dead or in a dying condition.

A most vigorous and persistent effort is being made all over the State, as well as in adjoining States, to secure the respite of Dr. Schœppe, now lying in the jail of Cumberland county under the sentence of death. If Governor Geary resists these demonstrations and appeals he will be firmer in his convictions of Schœppe's guilt than most other persons. No case within our recollection has elicited more marked feeling of interest than this one of Dr. Schœppe. The fact of the verdict and sentence having drawn out the most marked expressions of dissent from a great number of the ablest physicians and chemists in the country ought to induce Governor Geary to grant the respite at least, if not to pardon the prisoner.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.

In the Senate yesterday, Mr. Sumner introduced a bill looking to a return to specie payments. It contains several important provisions. A large number of other bills were introduced and referred, among them one to aid and promote the International Exhibition to be held in Washington in 1871, and another declaring Virginia to be a State of the Union and entitled to representation in Congress.

In the House, the various subjects mentioned in the President's message were referred to appropriate committees. Bills were introduced and referred to reorganize the Treasury Department; to repeal the tenure-of-office act; to establish a uniform system of naturalization; to prohibit the sales of coin in behalf of the United States, and to provide for the redemption of legal tender notes in coin at par.—Messrs. Heflin, Dox, Hays and Sherrard, the members elect from Alabama, were admitted to their seats.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.

The Senate yesterday elected the members of the several standing committees as previously elected by the republican caucus. Among the bills introduced and referred was one to appeal the test oath act. Mr. Ferry, who introduced this bill, made some very sensible remarks on the subject. A resolution was adopted requesting the committee on military affairs to inquire whether any legislation is necessary to secure to colored citizens who have served in the armies of the United States equal rights with white citizens. The joint resolution to remove all political disabilities upon the ratification of the fifteenth amendment was, after some debate, adopted. A resolution was introduced declaring that no State having once ratified an amendment to the United States constitution shall have power to rescind its action.

In the House, Mr. Morrell, of Pennsylvania introduced a bill to fund the national debt of the United States at a lower rate of interest, and to make national banking free. It was referred to the committee on ways and means. Mr. Cobb, of North Carolina, offered a resolution in favor of the recognition of the Independence of Cuba, and declaring that the House will support the President of the United States in its recognition. The resolution was not entertained. Bills were introduced and referred to abolish the duties on coal; to amend the homestead act so as to allow soldiers who served in the Union army to secure one hundred and sixty acres of land for homestead purposes, instead of eighty acres, as at present, and also to exempt the property of the Union soldiers and sailors from taxation, the same as the bonds of the bondholders. The census bill was then discussed in committee of the whole up to the hour of adjournment.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.

In the Senate a number of bills were introduced and referred, among them one from the judiciary committee defining the jurisdiction of the United States Courts in Virginia and Texas, another to increase the salary of the Chief Justice of the United States to $12,000 per annum, and of the Associate Justices to $10,000. Mr. Sumner offered a resolution which was adopted, instructing the committee on the District of Columbia to inquire into the propriety of repealing the charter of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia, and of such other legislation as may be necessary to secure medical practitioners in the District of Columbia equal rights without distinction of color. After an executive session the Senate adjourned until Monday.

In the House a bill was introduced, but subsequently withdrawn, authorizing an additional issue of legal-tender notes to the amount of forty-four millions of dollars. The census bill was then taken up in committee of the whole, when a spirited debate ensued, but no result was arrived at, and the House adjourned until to-day.

FROM THE FEDERAL CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.

Despairing of doing anything with a tariff by a general bill, members seem to be trying the tinkering process, and are offering numerous bills putting the tariff upon certain articles and putting others on the free list.—They hope by this course to get matters through that might be defeated if incorporated in a general bill.

The bill of Mr. Stevenson, of Ohio, introduced in the House to-day and referred to the ways and means committee proposes to exempt from import duty the following articles: Tea, coffee, molasses, syrup, malado or cane juice, rice, salt, coal, lumber, timber, hides, skins, printing paper and iron in pigs.

The House ways and means committee have had the iron section of the tariff bill under consideration, but the duties remain about the same, with a new classification.

A number of the most prominent physicians of the city have issued a call for a public meeting, to be held Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of reviewing the case of Dr. Paul Schœppe, now sentenced to execution on the 22d inst. They state that medico-legal questions of paramount importance to the profession and society at large are involved in this case, and demand consideration and immediate action thereon.

A meeting of labor delegates from several States, including Massachusetts, Maryland, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, California, &c., of which A. M. Winn, has been chosen president, is in session here to secure the passage of a more complete and efficient eight hour law by Congress.

A convention of pension agents from various sections of the country, summoned to devise the best means to prevent frauds upon the bureau, and the safest method of conducting business, has been in session here since Monday.

Commissioner Delano has issued a circular of instructions to supervisors of internal revenue officers who collect fees for making out returns, &c., or assisting those who do not know how to comply with the law.

The term of office of between three and four hundred postmasters appointed by President Johnson during the first session of the Thirty-ninth Congress will expire during the present session. Successors for many of them are already being urged by the members from their respective districts.—Cor. Balt. Sun.

The money power of the country is rapidly concentrating against the interests of the working classes. The Cincinnati Enquirer says:

Thirty five years ago, in the days of President Jackson, a National Bank, with its capital of thirty-five millions of dollars, was considered so formidable to popular liberty that all was put down by the voice of the people. Now we have seventeen hundred National Banks, with a capital of three hundred millions of dollars. Affiliated with them are three hundred thousand bondholders, who represent two thousand millions of bonds. They have with their five hundred millions of capital invested in manufacturing, privileges in New England which are sustained by protection bonds from the National Treasury. To these are joined the great railroad corporations—not only the Pacific with its sixty millions of dollars' aid from the Treasury, and its host of branch roads, but such great corporation as the New York and Erie, New York Central and Pennsylvania Central, which jointly control a capital of two hundred millions of dollars.

Of the power of corruption and intimidation possessed by these great aggregations of money, it is useless and unneccesary to speak. We have for years seen them in our elections and in our primary meetings. We have seen them in the legislation of the country. Everything it has done has been for the wellbeing of these privileged classes. Whether the country will be able to stop this monetary vassalage and assert its independence in the future remains to be seen. At present it is the practical doctrine that only the great moneyed classes have any right to be heard and considered in legislation.

"Doseh," the ceremony of celebrating the birthday of Mahomet, was duly observed in Cairo, Egypt, and was celebrated on the first of November, and the prostrate bodies of fanatics were ridden over by the Sheik el Bekree, live snakes were eaten, glass crunched and swallowed, bodies slashed with swords, cheeks and breasts pierced with sharp metal instruments, which were left sticking in the wounds they made, and hundreds of men and boys shrieked and writhed, and wrestled in what professed to be a mad extacy of religious fervor. This fete was instituted by Sultan Morad III, in 1588, or in the year 996 of the Hegira.

Whiskey has risen to twenty cents a drink in Brooklyn since the seizure of illicit stills.

SHOCKING PUNISHMENT IN CUBA.—A letter received in New York from Havana, under date of November 29th, gives the details of the discovery of a negro rising in Cuba, and the horrible punishment which was inflicted upon those engaged in it. The letter tells the following doubtful story:

"Three of the number were shot, one was flogged on three different occasions, receiving in all eight hundred lashes, and one of the best negroes on the place, a vigorous man, was whipped almost to death; and amid his sufferings, while repeatedly fainting and falling to the ground from sheer weakness, was made to declare what he knew. Another, upon receiving the order to lie down and submit to be tied and receive punishment, fell senseless. Nevertheless he received a thousand lashes, without giving the slightest sign of life. A creole negro, suspected to be, though not, implicated in the plot, received one thousand two hundred lashes. The hands of the estates were collected together upon the Esperauza, and there in the presence of two thousand negroes, the ringleaders of the conspiracy were flogged in gangs of twenty-one at a time, two executioners being detailed for each victim. At the same place nine were shot, and in the punishment inflicted no distinction was made between free and slave.

We are in receipt of later and more satisfactory intelligence of the safety and whereabouts of Dr. David Livingstone, the great African explorer. Sir Seymour Fitzgerald telegraphs from Bombay, under date of Nov. 22, that he had just received a letter from Livingstone, dated Ujiji, May 13, 1869, stating that he was in good health and spirits, and that his discoveries had given him great satisfaction. This shows that the distinguished traveller, as late as six months ago, was at the spot indicated in his letter of July, 1868, as that for which he was making. There can be no doubt now that Livingstone will soon arrive at home, to tell us of the trials he has passed and the wonders he has seen. He will have a most remarkable series of adventures to describe, in his quiet but entertaining way. He alone must correct and amend our geography of Africa, from Ptolemy Claudius to Paul B. Du Chaillu.

John Stuart Mills is accepted in the country by many as authority in political economy. In a recent letter in answer to some enquiries in relation to Chinese emigration, he holds the following views:

"Considering the purely economical view of the subject, I entirely agree with you; and it could hardly be better stated and argued than it is in your able article in the New York Tribune. That the Chinese immigration, if it attains great dimensions, must be economically injurious to the mass of the present population; that it must diminish their wages, and reduce them to a lower state of physical comfort and well being, I have no manner of doubt. Nothing can be more fallacious than the attempts to make out that thus to lower wages is the way to raise them, or that there is any compensation, in an economical point of view, to those whose labor is displaced, or who are obliged to work for a greatly reduced remuneration. On general priciple this state of things, were it sure to continue, would justify the exclusion of the immigrants on the ground that, with their habits in respect to population, only a temporary good is done to the Chinese people by admitting part of their surplus numbers, while a permanent harm is done in a more civilized and improved portion of mankind.

Pope Pius IX is quite old and feeble, and is possessed of an apprehension that the excitement attendant upon the sessions of the Ecumenical Council may be greater than his health and strength can endure. He has, therefore, decided to issue a Papal Bull ordaining that should his Holiness die during th convocation of the Council, his successor is to be elected by the assembled Prelates of the Church from all parts of the world, and not merely be chosen by the conclave of Cardinals in the usual way.

Rev. Dr. Collyer of Chicago, preached a sermon in Washington, on Sunday, in which he commented upon the McFarland-Richardson tragedy and criticised in severity the conduct of Vice President Colfax, who the reverend Dr. represented as "bearding the lion in his den." Brigham Young (in Utah) there getting off a homily upon the sanctity of marital relations, and now "scattering showers of sympathy upon the bed of a spiritual adulterer."

Drunkenness among women is increasing in Liverpool. In the year past, 5,000 females have been committed to jail for crimes committed under the influence of strong drink. The women of Liverpool drink ale, gin, cherry brandy and cordials very freely, and we are sorry to hear that the practice of tippling "cherry bounce" and sweet cordials is becoming rather too fashionable among women in our large American cities.

The new Commercial Exchange building, situated at the corner of Second and Walnut streets, Philadelphia, costing $250,000, was burned last week. The fire originated from the falling of a large chandelier in the upper hall, the escaping gas igniting and rapidly involving the entire building in flames.

A freight train ran into a passenger train standing at Manor Station, on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, the other day, resulting in the smashing of three coaches and two freight cars, the killing of a brakesman, mortal injury of a passenger named Henry McKim, and slightly wounding several others.

A British steamer has put into Norfolk with a statement that a party of Englishmen have made amazing discoveries of gold in Nicaragua, and have already gotten two hundred tons of the precious metal from their mines.

There are over a million more females in England than males. This is said to be owing to the fact that many men who enlist in the army die or never return home, for it is known that there are only 956 females born to each thousand males in England.

It is a remarkable fact that in all ages and among all nations the existence of the Almighty and of Satan have been acknowledged and believed in some way. The old Egyptian, called his Satanic majesty Typhon, the Greeks called him Titan, the Persian named him Onromaze, the Scoeth designate him as "Auld Clootie," and the Germans nominate him "Der Tuyfel." The imagination of the Chinese has invented no less than ten devils and hells. One presides over a hell stuck full of knives; another an iron tank filled with boiling water; a third is a hell of ice; in another is the punishment of pulling out the tongue of those who tell lies; another a hell of poisonous serpents; in another the victim is drawn into pieces; another a hell of blackness and darkness, and in praying they say, "May I not fall into the hell of swords," and into this or that place of torment. According to many poets, the devil's favorite lurking place is in black eyes.

A settler from Laramie December 4 says the Indian troubles in Wyoming are quite alarming. Bands of Sioux are roving through the Territory robbing and murdering. A mail party that left Fort Laramie was driven in by Indians. Another, which left several days previous, had not been heard from, and it was feared it had been captured.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver, and put it to work: then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe, a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall-bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall-bladder and starts the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the Alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills, or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has Consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood: then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

When there is no lung disease, and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompanying each, make it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless the patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond Street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists.

We know that the ladies of that village understand how to get up a festival, and we trust that in their present effort they will be properly sustained by a generous community. All are invited to attend.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—On last Fri night the store and dwelling of Mr. W. W. Lamburn, of Mowry's Mill, was entirely consumed by fire. None of the contents were saved, and the occupants barely escaped with their lives. The loss is very severe on our friend Lamburn, but we are pleased to learn that he took the precaution to have $4,000 insurance on his property, which will at least partially indemnity him for the loss he has sustained.

Diptheria and putrid sore throat will be common among children this winter, and, if allowed to run for a few days, may be very difficult to cure. Mothers should watch children closely, and when languid and febrile symptoms appear, take a spoon and with the handle press down the tongue, when the little white pus sores may be seen. Muriate of iron and water, in equal parts, make excellent washes for sore throats. Apply them with a soft rag-swob or small camel's hair brush.

RHOMBOHEDRAL IRON ORE.—A large bed of this valuable ore has just been found near "Todd's Spring," about one mile west of this place. This discovery, taken in connection with the fact that inexhaustible beds of fossil ore exist for miles around here, will soon awaken capitalists to the fact that Bedford is the place for the erection of furnaces, rolling mills and all kinds of iron manufactories. Hematite and fossil ores worked together make the best iron in the world, and the vicinity of Bedford and is now ready to furnish them.

THE BROAD TOP MURDER.—The motion for a new trial for Kane, Lynch, Powers and Mulvahill was heard by a full bench last Friday. The argument on both sides was very able, as was Judge Taylor's reasons for refusing a new trial. At 11 o'clock Saturday morning the four prisoners were brought into Court and sentenced to seven years and eleven month imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary, each. Sheriff Neely started for Pittsburg with the prisoners Monday evening.—Monitor.

NEXT summer is the time for taking the census of the United States. Officers will be appointed for every township to gather statistics of the inhabitants, and of all the agriculture productions, manufactures, &c. As these reports will be called for in June, it will be necessary to give in the crops, gathered this fall, and the suggestion that we would now make is, that cultivators write down, while fresh in mind, the number of acres of each kind, the amount per acre, and the gross amount of pork, beef, &c., will be asked for, as well as all kinds of fruit.

Coughs and Colds are often overlooked. A continuance for any length of time causes irritation of the Lungs or some chronic Throat Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," are offered with the fullest confidence in their efficacy, giving almost invariably sure and immediate relief. Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches, many worthless and cheap imitations are offered, which are good for nothing. Be sure to obtain the true "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Sold everywhere.

OLEAGINOUS.—The Clarion Democrat, of the 4th inst., has the following in reference to the Stump Islands oil territory, in which quite a number of our citizens are interested:

A new well called the Lone Star, on Stump Island, immediately above the mouth of the Clarion river, was finished on Friday of last week. On Monday it pumped 24 barrels of oil in 24 hours, giving promise of being one of the largest in the region. It is owned by Ed. H. Long, Ed. Singleton, Wm. Hartley and others.

There are now two wells on the "Stump Islands Oil Company's" land that are flowing oil in paying quantities, with very good prospects of large increase.

Jeff. living, did not frighten us much, and it is hardly likely now that we can be scared by his shade or that of any of his imps, like the local of the Gazette.—Hollidaysburg Register.

We like to stir up the animals occasionally, to see whether they are in good condition for the show. The merest touch of our "switch" sets Over to roaring and showing his teeth, that one imagines himself in an East India jungle, or among a set of hungry anthrophagists, and in imminent peril of being instantly devoured, without the benefit of clergy. Davy must have dyspepsia. 'Tis true he was not "scared by Jeff's shade," for during the late "onpleasantness" he did not venture within shadow-seeing distance of the now ex-cheiftan. Like that other animal, but one which makes far less pretensions to ears, he "smelleth the battle afar off." Selah!

BUCKWHEAT CAKES.—These are peculiarly adapted to cold weather. The appetite craves them, and they supply the system with warmth, to enable it to resist for a long time the feeling of hunger. But they must be made just right, and here is a prime recipe: Make a thin batter with a quart of flour, half a cup of yeast, warm water and a little salt. Let it rise over night. Bake on both sides on a griddle. A little of the batter left in the rising dish will serve for yeast for the next batch. It is better to add a tea-spoonful of salaratus before baking in the morning, and it is very essential that this is good and be strictly pure.

NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.—It is not generally known that there is an act of the Pennsylvania Legislature providing that no estate shall be bequeathed, devised, or conveyed to any body politic, or to any person, in trust for religious or charitable uses, except the same be done by deed or will, at least one month before the decease of the testator or alienor. It is an important provision and persons who contemplate charitable bequests, should prepare their wills in due season. We have recently noticed several instances in which such bequests have failed because of the wills not being executed a month prior to the deaths of the parties. Last week Mrs. Sophia Meylin died in Lancaster, bequeathed $1,000 to Trinity Lutheran Church, and $10,000 to Zion's Lutheran Church. Both bequests are void, because the will was executed less than thirty days before her death. Not long ago Henry Lawson, of Norristown died with a bequest of a large amount of money to a Philadelphia association which failed for the same reason.

THE WEEKLY SUN will renew its best efforts as a first-class News and Literary Journal. Every improvement of modern journalism—by which it is distinguished—will be maintained, and such attention be given to its several departments as will insure their continued interest, and whatever may be necessary to render them more complete will not be lost sight of.
Through no other medium can families and individuals in the towns and villages and rural districts of the country be so well supplied with proper literature, and a full knowledge of the world's whole news, from week to week.

MAKE UP CLUBS.

While the WEEKLY SUN is afforded at the low rate of $1 50 per annum to single subscribers, the CLUB rates are still lower, carrying the price down as low as one dollar per year where twenty-fiive copies or more are taken at one post office at a time, viz:

Any postmaster or storekeeper in the county may easily accomplish this among his acquaintances, or any active person, male or female, do the same. The regular diffusion of the light and intelligence which such a journal affords will be a moral and social advantage in any neighborhood.

THE ONLY RELIABLE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA IN THE KNOWN WORLD.

Dr. Wishart's Great American Dyspepsia Pills and Pine Tree Tar Cordial are a positive and infallable cure for Dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, and no matter of how long standing. They penetrate the secret abode of this terrible disease, and exterminate to it, root and branch, forever.
They alleviate more agony and silent suffering than tongue can tell.
They are noted for curing the most desperate and hopeless cases, when every known means fail to afford relief.
No form of Dyspepsia or Indijestion can resist their penetrating power,

DR. WISHART'S
PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL.

It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the tar, by which its highest medical properties are retained. It invigorates the digestive organs and restores the appetite. It strengthens the debilitated system. It purifies and encriches the blood, and expels from the system the corruption which scrofula breeds on the lungs. It dissolves the mucus or phlegm which stops the air passages of the lungs. Its healing principle acts upon the irritated surface of the lungs and throat, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving pain and subduing inflammation. It is the result of years of study and experiment, and it is offered to the afflicted with positive assurance of its power to cure the following diseases if the patient has not too long delayed a resort to the means of cure:
Consumption of the Lungs, Cough, Sore Throat and Breast, Bronchitis, Liver Complaint, Blind and Bleeding Piles, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Diptheria, &c.
A medical expert, holding honorable collegiate diplomas, devotes his entire time to the examination of patients at the office parlors. Associated with him are three consulting physicians of acknowledged eminence, whose services are given to the public free of charge.
This opportunity is offered by no other institution in the country.
Letters from any part of the country, asking advice, will be promptly and gratuitously responded to. Where convenient, remittances should take the shape of

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this Sarsaparilla: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhoea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

The Waters' Pianos are built of the very best and most thoroughly seasoned material.—Advocate and Journal.

Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' store the very best assortment of Pianos, Melodeons and Organs to be found in the United States.—Graham's Magazine.

MUSICAL DOINGS.—Since Mr. Waters gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodeons. He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs. Many people of the present day, who are attracted, if not confused, with the flaming adeertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" connected therewith were ever thought of; indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Pianofortes now in our residence (where it has stood for many years,) of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet-toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more that, this, some of the best amateur player. in the city, as well as several celebrated pianistes have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce it a superior and first-class instrument. Stronger endorsement we could not give.—Home Journal. jan15,'69.

Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.

New designs of the Unique, Useful, and Popular Folding Tops and Cabinet Cases, peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company, have been prepared for enclosing the new Machine.

A faint idea, however, can at best be conveyed through the medium of a (necessarily) limited advertisement; and we therefore urge every person in quest of a Sewing Machine, by all means to examine and test, if they can possibly do so, all the leading rival Machines before making a purchase. A selection can then be made understandingly. Branches or agencies for supplying the "Singer" Machines will be found in nearly every city and town throughout the civilized world, where Machines will be cheerfully exhibited, and any information promptly furnished. MIDDLETON'S

WONDERFUL PAIN CURE

A sure remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Growing Pains, Sprains, Bruises, Stiffnes, of the Joints and all similar diseases.

This wonderful remedy is composed entirely of vegetable ingredients, There are no injurious substances used in its manufacture.

For assurance of its excellent properties, read the following certificates:

BEDFORD, May 8, 1869.

I take great pleasure in giving my testimony to the value of "Middleton's Wonderful Pain Cure." I have been a martyr to Rheumatism. For two months previous to Feb. 25th, last, I was suffering intensely with pain so severe, that during all that time I had not one night of comfortable sleep. I could not put my hands to my face, could not comb my own hair, nor feed myself; but after having the Pain Cure applied once, I found relief enough to give me comfortable sleep, and with its steady use, I continued to get better, and now at the end of ten weeks from its first application, I have comparatively free use of my hands, sleep well and can attend to business. It has done me more good than all other medicines I have ever used put together, and I cheerfully give this certificate of its value.

ELI M. FISHER.

BEDFORD, April 14, 1869.

Mr. W. W. Middleton,

This is to certify that I was taken with Rheumatism, in my right shoulder, on the evening of the 8th inst., so that I was unable to raise my hand to my face. I got some of your Pain Cure and applied it twice, and was entirely relieved. I would recommend to every one who suffers with Rheumatism to give it a trial and be cured.

Yours &c., A. F. MILLER.

BEDFORD, May 17, 1869.

Mr. Middleton,

DEAR SIR:—I have used several bottles of your medicine in my family, and find it to be all you claim for it. Yours, truly,

JOHN HAFER.

BEDFORD, May 13, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used "Middleton's Pain Cure," for Rheumatism, and was very much benefited by it. JOHN HARRIS.

BEDFORD, May 18, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used Middleton's Liniment, for the Rheumatism which I had in my right shoulder so bad that I could not get my hand to my head without great pain, and after a few applications was entirely relieved.

L. F. DART.

BEDFORD, May 1, 1869.

Mr Middleton,

Dear Sir:— Mrs. Bowser was in much suffering for some four weeks with Rheumatism, and got some of your Pain Cure, and the first night I applied it it eased the pain; and after keeping on using it for two weeks, she was restored to health. I feel it to be my duty, as it is a pleasure, to write this recommendation for the benefit of others. JACOB BOWSER

BEDFORD, May 16. 1869.

Mr. W. W. Middleton:

sir—I procured a bottle of your Liniment for Rheumatism, and it gives me great pleasure in saying that after using it for two days, my rheumatism was completely relieved. My sister was suffering, at the same time, with Inflamatory Rheumatism in her right hand and wrist—after using it for several days she was relieved. I consider it the best remedy I ever heard of.

JOHN KEEFE

BEDFORD, May 24, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used one bottle of Middleton's Liniment, for Rheumatism, and think it a good cure, and would recommend it to all persons that are afflicted with the above disease.

AUGUSTUS CARVER.

BEDFORD, May 26, 1869.

Mr. Middleton:

Sir—I procured one bottle of your medicine and used one-half of it for Rheumatism, which effected a permanent cure up to this time. I cannot hesitate in saying that it is the best remedy I ever used. A. B. CARN.

This excellent PAIN CURE is prepared only by W. W. MIDDLETON, Bedford, Pa., to whom all orders for the medicine should be addressed.
